For Immediate Release

Today 9th December 2011, Airports Authority of India, New Delhi

Chairman, AAI Inaugurated the 2nd Annual India Conference 2011 at Hotel Oberoi, New Delhi on December, 2011

The 2nd Annual India Airports Conference 2011 was inaugurated by Sh. V.P. Agrawal, Chairman, AAI (Airports Authority of India) on 9th December 2011.

Sh. V.P. Agrawal in his inaugural address highlighted the exponential growth of Indian civil aviation industry and the proactive and futuristic planning of AAI including development of aviation infrastructure and praised the Govt. initiatives for liberalising the aviation sector.

While addressing the gathering of policy makers, developers, consultants and financial experts, Sh. V. P. Agrawal also narrated the projections made by Airport Council International (ACI) that India will be the 3rd largest aviation market in the world in next 10-12 years, he also mentioned that India has the potential to be a leading hub for passengers and cargo traffic and suggested various ways to meet the challenges by upgrading the passenger facilities, improving connectivity, bring new airports on air map, efficient use of airspace, reduction in operating cost of terminal buildings etc.

He extends his best wishes to the organisers for the success of the conference.
